MCC polls: Public campaign ends

- Mustering process will begin at 8 am tomorrow at 4 centres.
- Total voters: 7,98,673; Male: 3,97,180; Female: 4,01,395; 98 others.
- Indelible ink to be applied on ring finger of the left hand.

Mysuru, Aug.29 (RK&BCT)- The public campaigning for the Mysuru City Corporation (MCC) elections came to a close at 7 am today and candidates and their supporters are now on a door-to-door canvassing. The usual hustle and bustle and the noise of public campaigning that was witnessed till last evening was missing this morning with candidates waking up before the crack of dawn and reaching places of canvassing. They, however, had to wind up public campaigning at 7 am.

Candidates and their four to five supporters are at present on a door-to-door campaign and are visiting homes in their last-ditch efforts to woo the voters. In all, there are 393 candidates from BJP, Congress and JD(S) and a host of independents fighting to gain a place in the 65-member Corporation Council. Voting will take place on Aug.31.

Preparing for the election, the Mysuru District Administration has set up 725 main booths and 90 auxiliary booths where the number of voters and candidates are high. There are a total of 815 booths and the same number of Electronic Voting Machines (EVMs) has been allotted. Each booth will also have three EVMs as reserve in case of technical snags.

There are 3,97,180 male voters, 4,01,395 female voters and 98 others, taking the total voter count to 7,98,673. The Administration is expecting a voter turnout of 55 to 65 percent and to increase the voter count, the authorities had taken up several Systematic Voters' Education and Electoral Participation (SVEEP) programmes. "We have declared a paid holiday on the voting day on Aug.31 and have taken several other steps," MCC Commissioner K.H. Jagadeesha told Star of Mysore.

MP Pratap Simha canvassing for Ward 20 (Vijayanagar) BJP candidate M.U. Subbaiah, who is also an advocate.

Mustering process will take place tomorrow, a day before the election, at Maharani's Arts College on JLB Road, Maharani's College of Commerce and Management on Valmiki Road at Paduvarahalli, Maharaja's College Centenary Hall and Teresian College on Bannur Road. Mustering will begin at 8 am and each polling booth will have five officers — one Presiding Officer, one Assistant Presiding Officer and three staff. After the mustering, the officers will leave to their respective booths along with EVMs, ledgers, indelible ink and stationeries.

"The officers will be transported in Government buses and they will stay for the night at the booth tomorrow. Voting will begin at 7 am on Aug.31 and end at 5 pm. We have checked all EVMs and we are also ready with spare machines in case there is a technical snag," he said. This time, the indelible ink will be applied on the ring finger of the left hand.

After voting, the de-mustering process will start and all the voting machines will be dumped inside a Strong Room at Maharani's College of Commerce and Management. Counting of votes will take place on Sept.3 and the Strong Room will be opened and votes will be counted from 8 am. The results are likely to be out by afternoon.

Cashing on Caste

Neither the clock can be put back nor history of a country be changed. The issue of caste, unique to the land and its people, discussed and debated in a multitude of circles for years has its own history spanning for several centuries. Virtually sounding like sloganeering by public speakers of all hues, the air is abuzz with the untenable statements that India is a casteless country and that the caste system needs to be got rid of. Depending on who are making such statements, some sound hollow some others don't visualise that to happen while the rest are biding time until the day caste ceases to impact the society. While scholars often cite the line from Bhagavad Gita that the four castes represented the four different classification of people's calling for a livelihood and integrity of society, that message doesn't hold water in present times. The disturbing side to the caste system is their social hierarchy which ensued as a result of a plethora of customs and practices amounting to human folly. That is the dark side to the caste system, presently being the central point of the debates on caste.

While the population of the land comprised sections of different religions, the charge of ruling the country by dividing its people on religious count is levelled against the British Raj in the country. Making matters worse, the dividing of the population on the basis of religion, even as the country earned the right of self-rule, caste has sub-divided the people into phenomenal number of castes, not to forget their hierarchical image.

The authors of India's Constitution, with the intention of undoing the historical wrong of some sections in the population dominating over some other sections and even looking down upon people of castes of lower hierarchy, prescribed what came to be known as reservation, although for a 10-year period initially. The measure having continued beyond the period initially stipulated, the issue has snowballed into the contentious class. The President, in his address to the Nation on the eve of 72nd Independence Day, called upon the people to avoid talking about any contentious issue in order to sustain peace in the land. However, the sections of the Nation's population outside the reservation radar, being at the receiving end of the perceived past experience of those in lower caste hierarchy of the past, cannot avoid getting rankled. Reservation having been taken to a point that is bound to cause more rankling, namely the measure to include promotion, the Supreme Court has been quoted in the press last week asking the question: Can reservation in promotion be continued in perpetuity? Before talking further on the matter, the discussants need to bear in mind the game of cashing on caste played by politicians of all the parties in the land. The slogan casteless society is for the consumption of the gullible masses.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

I am currently in Boston reading a book called Wonder Woman in which writer Deborah Spar, a Harvard alumnus, contends that in spite of the feminist movement and the progress that women have made economically, socially and otherwise, women still spend inordinate amount of time in childcare and other domestic work in the US; more so than their spouses. In India, childcare is synonymous with women's work. My contention is that ill health in the family affects a woman far more than it does the man. I am advising my daughter that she should be conversant with all the simple remedies that can keep a child healthy and disease-free. Of course, it is not a 100 percent certainty but at least you will be tackling the problem at the initial stage. Even in the US, it is more common for the mother to take the child to the paediatrician, and childcare tasks fall unequally on the women. I don't think that this is likely to change in the near future, and until such time society and governments wake up to make it easier for the mother to fulfil both her roles we shall turn to ayurveda. — *Sheela Rani Chunkath in The New Indian Express.

Man goes under knife to make his face look like skull

Santa Marta: A 22-year-old tattoo artist from Colombia nicknames Kalaca Skull, has been making headlines all over South America for undergoing extreme surgical procedures to make his face look like a skull.

Born as Eric Yeiner Hincapié Ramírez, the young tattoo artist claims he had been fascinated by skulls ever since he was a child, but only started turning his face into one after his mother's death, because she didn't approve of the idea. First, he had the lower half of his nose removed,and had most of his ear lobes cut off as well. After splitting his tongue and tattooing it to an unnatural blue-grey color, he had large black eye-sockets tattooed around his eyes, as well as large teeth and even the hollow space between the mandible and maxilla tattooed around his mouth.

Kalaca Skull was the first person in Colombia to voluntarily have his nose and ears mutilated. Most people don't understand why anyone would want to have their nose and ears cut off, but the 22-year-old isn't asking for their understanding, just their acceptance of his wishes.

Escaped cow found among wild bison herd

Warsaw: A domestic cow of a farm that escaped and joined a herd of wild bison on the edge of the primeval Bialowieza Forest, on the Belarusian border was found living with its new bison family in eastern Poland for the past three months, and seems to have adjusted just fine.

Ornithologist Adam Zbyryt, who first spotted the cow in the bison herd thought the small reddish brown specimen was a bison exhibiting a mutation.

But on looking closer through his binoculors he realized it was actually a Limousin cow, a French breed that is popular in Poland.

Dr. Kowalczyk, director of the Mammal Research Institute at the Polish Academy of Sciences, described the situation as extraordinary, saying that it's the first time he has witnessed a cow living among bison.

Enforce traffic discipline at Rly. Station back gate

Sir,

Subsequent to the news about parking issues leading to choking of the entrance-cum-exit road at the Railway Station rear terminal, the Traffic Police have swung into action as if to remedy the problem.

There is now a notification put up by the Traffic Police banning the entry of autos and taxis operating under the aegis of UBER, OLA and JUGNU. This ban applies right from the main KRS road at the entrance to Railway Museum. It must be noted that autos not registered under any of these agencies are kept out of this ban. Is this not discriminatory and done under pressure of auto union?

I apprehend that this will lead to considerable hardship to many passengers, especially ladies, children and the aged, who may engage services of any of these agencies on phone and not allowed to enter the concourse on the back gate. It is a long walk from the main road to the concourse and if it happens to be raining or severe sun, the agonies may well be imagined.

Same situation will be faced by the passengers who arrive and have booked over phone an auto or taxi before reaching the Station. They will have to walk all the way from the concourse to the main road or the place where the vehicle is parked.

While it may seem ok to impose such a ban because the banned autos and taxis can provide the service from the main terminal side, it defeats the very purpose of opening the rear terminal to reduce the congestion on the only available foot over-bridge and the hardships thereby. In such case, all such passengers have to necessarily alight at the main terminal and walk all the way to board trains starting from 6th or 5th Platform.

This ban, if not withdrawn or modified (to allow only pick up and drop), will lead to traffic jam on the main KRS road because all such autos and taxis will start unloading the passengers right in front of Rail Museum gate. Already a chaos is prevailing at the same spot because ill-planned verge created on this busy KRS road to allow vehicles to take right turn towards Akashvani Circle and entry of vehicles into the Railway Station road from the main road.

Hope the traffic authorities will ponder over the issues and arrive at a holistic solution of either expanding the area in front of the rear terminal or strictly enforce a traffic discipline to prevent any chaos.

Sudha Murty to inaugurate Dasara festivities on Oct.10

- Simple and traditional Festival owing to floods in Kodagu
- More emphasis on beautifying Mysuru and attracting tourists

Sudha Murty

Mysuru, Aug 29 (SBD&BCT)- Infosys Foundation Chairperson, social activist, philanthropist and writer Sudha Murty will inaugurate the world famous Dasara festivities beginning Oct.10 atop the iconic Chamundi Hill.

Addressing a press conference after presiding over the Dasara High Power Committee meeting at the Government Guest House in Nazarbad yesterday, Chief Minister H.D. Kumaraswamy (HDK) said that official invitation will be extended to Sudha Murty to inaugurate.

Dasara is the State festival of Karnataka and is organised every year in Mysuru. Numerous cultural events and functions are organised during the ten days. The traditional Dasara procession will be on Oct.19, the day of Vijayadashami where the idol of Goddess Chamundeshwari is placed on a golden howdah on a caparisoned elephant and taken in a procession along with tableaux, dance groups, music bands, horses and camels.

The five-kilometre long procession starts from Mysore Palace and culminates at Bannimantap, where the Banni tree is worshipped. The festivities culminate on the night of Vijayadashami with a Torchlight Parade, locally known as Panjina Kavayatthu.

The CM said that this year Dasara festivities will be held in a simple and traditional manner due to devastation in Kodagu district due to floods.

"Due to unprecedented rain havoc and floods witnessed in Kodagu district and many taluks reeling under drought situation in the State, the festivities will be held in a simple manner. Howver, the festivities will be held in such a way that there is no lapse in the traditions," he said.

Tourism Minister S.R. Mahesh has plans to generate revenue of Rs.100 crore and he is planning attractions like Palace on Wheels, Heritage Tours, Museum on Wheels, 3D projections, special Dasara programmes at Somanathapura and Chunchanakatte, the CM said.

The symbolic march of the elephants 'Gajapayana' will be flagged off on Sept.2, where the first batch of Dasara elephants led by Arjuna, which will carry golden howdah during Jumboo Savari, from the jungle camp will march towards Mysuru. The elephants will be welcomed to the Palace on Sept.3 where they will be trained for the procession.

Gajapayana will commence from Veeranahosalli Gate on the outskirts of the Nagarahole National Park.

The CM said that it was also decided to attract more tourists and some of the programmes will be made permanent one like famous Dasara Exhibition which will be held for 90 days every year. This year, there are plans to increase the number of exhibition days. He said that the Government was also thinking to establish the Dasara Festival Authority and decision will be taken in the near future.

The newest entry to the festivities this year will be 'Janapada Jathre' for showcasing of the rich folk art and culture of the land. The Chief Minister said that there was no dearth of funds for the events and the Mysuru Deputy Commissioner, who will be the Dasara Special Officer, would have a free hand in organising the festivities.

On the Dasara grant, Kumaraswamy said that the District Administration would submit a proposal and accordingly, a grant would be released. Last year, a proposal for Rs.15 crore was submitted of which pending Rs.7.10 crore will be sanctioned this year, he said.

As every year, the attractions including Aahara Mela, Yuva Dasara and Dasara Sports will be held to showcase local talents and more money will be spent to beautify the city. The CM said that the Annual Dasara Exhibition will begin the very next day of the inauguration and the Karnataka Exhibition Authority will be asked to fill up the stalls at the Exhibition early. Other attractions to come up at the Exhibition include the contribution of Maharajas to the development of Mysuru region, he added.

Higher Education and Mysuru District in-Charge Minister G.T. Devegowda, Tourism Minister S.R. Mahesh, Minor Irrigation Minister C.S. Puttaraju, Transport Minister D.C. Thammanna, Kannada and Culture Minister Jaimala, JD(S) State President A.H. Vishwanath, MLC K.T. Srikantegowda, MLAs L. Nagendra, Harshavardhan, R. Narendra, Ashwin Kumar, Mayor B. Bhagyavathi, District In-Charge Secretary Lakshminarayana, Mysuru Deputy Commissioner Abhiram G. Sankar, Chamarajanagar DC B.B. Cauvery, Mysuru SP Amit Singh and City Police Commissioner Dr. A. Subramanyeswara Rao were present during the meeting.

Congress MLA Dr. Yathindra Siddharamaiah, party MP R. Dhruvanarayan were conspicuous by their absence. Chief Minister Kumaraswamy said that invitations were extended to them but for them, Urban Local Body Elections were more important than the meeting and were busy canvassing.

Ex-AP CM NTR's son Nandamuri Harikrishna dies in accident

Harikrishna's eldest son Nandamuri Janakiram had died in mishap on the same road in 2014

The toppled SUV which was driven by Harikrishna.

Nandamuri Harikrishna

Hyderabad, Aug.29- Nandamuri Harikrishna (61), son of former Andhra Pradesh Chief Minister N.T. Rama Rao (NTR), died early this morning in a road accident at Telangana.

The accident took place around 6.30 am in Nalgonda, 100 km from Hyderabad. He was also the brother-in-law of Andhra Pradesh Chief Minister N. Chandrababu Naidu and a member of the State's ruling Telugu Desam Party.

He is survived by two wives Lakshmi and Shalini, two sons Junior NTR and Kalyan Ram and daughter Suhasini.

He will be cremated with full State honours.

The actor-politician was learnt to be driving his SUV, a Toyota Fortuner, at a high speed, to attend a wedding in Nellore when his car hit a divider and flipped, landing on its side. The Police suspected that Harikrishna was driving at a speed of up to 150 km per hour as he wanted to make it to the wedding by 9 am. Harikrishna was thrown out of the car and suffered chest and head wounds. He was taken to hospital in a very critical state. He died soon after.

The SUV also hit a Maruti Suzuki Dzire car. Three others in the car with Harikrishna survived with injuries.

It may be recalled that Harikrishna's eldest son Nandamuri Janakiram was killed in a road accident in 2014 on the same road. Junior NTR was also involved in an accident in 2009, but had escaped with injuries.

In this week's Pet Talk,
Maneka speaks about ammonia poisoning in aquarium, insects intelligence and about identifying real and fake fur.

Pet Talk

Maneka Gandhi

How to treat ammonia poisoning in aquarium water?

• 25 - 50% water change; • Use chemical to neutralize ammonia; • Discontinue or reduce feeding; • Lower pH below 7.0.

If the ammonia level rises above 1 ppm, as measured by a standard test kit, begin treatment immediately. Lowering the pH of the water will provide immediate relief, as will a 50% water change (be sure to use water that is the same temperature as the aquarium). Several water changes within a short period of time may be required to drop the ammonia to below 1 ppm. If the fish are in severe distress, the use of a chemical to neutralize the ammonia is recommended. Feedings should be restricted so that additional waste is reduced. In cases of very high ammonia levels, feedings should be discontinued for several days. No new fish should be added to the tank until the ammonia and nitrite levels have fallen to zero.

Do birds sing with their throats?

Strange question but the answer is even stranger. Some birds make sounds with their feathers. The male Anna's hummingbird is one of many species of birds that attract females with sounds generated by their feathers. Scientists know that when air hits certain feathers—at the right speed and angle—it causes them to vibrate. And this rapid oscillation produces sound.

A paper published in the Journal of Experimental Biology describes wing-singing in two species of small African broadbills. The researchers compare it to the "aroogah!" of a mechanical horn and note that the noise can travel more than 300 feet through dense forest. When the birds flap their wings in everyday flight, it is mostly silent. The feathers only produce the characteristic "brreeeet" when the birds want to be heard during courtship displays. Different parts of six feathers vibrate in concert, and the birds can still produce sound even if one is taken away.

Small, male long-beaked American woodcocks perform a "sky dance." This involves a barrage of vocal "peents" from the ground before a burst of flight that unleashes whistling from the bird's wings. The birds climb 400 feet, before adding another climactic vocalization and zig-zagging back to earth like a falling leaf. Woodcocks employ a combination of sounds made from both, their voice box and their feathers. These birds are actually playing the instrument that is their wings. The better the sound, the more likely it is that a female will be attracted. Hummingbirds make their music by shaking their tail feathers. These noises vary from a single, rapid "bleeeep" to fluttering notes that sound like a ray gun's "pew pew pew." Imagine if you could make music with your hair or beard.

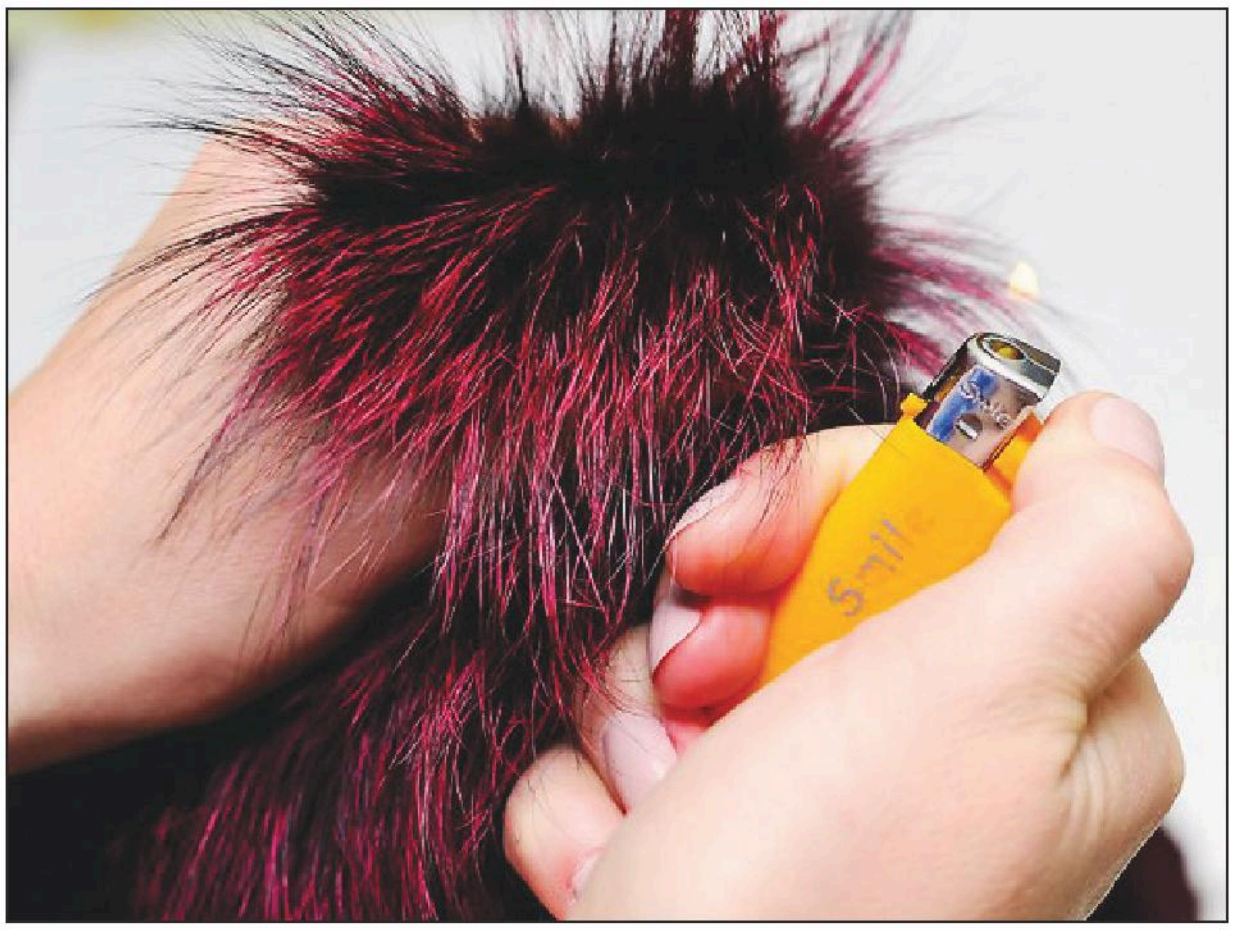
What causes flatulence in dogs?

It is normal for gas to be produced and to accumulate within the gastrointestinal tract. However, in some situations this production of gas is increased and can become excessive. The most common cause of excessive flatulence is a change in diet, or from the dog eating something new or spoiled. Most cases of chronic flatulence are caused by a diet that is poorly digested by the dog. These poorly digestible diets cause excessive fermentation in the colon and subsequent gas formation. Soybeans, peas, beans, milk products, high-fat diets and spicy foods are all commonly associated with flatulence in dogs. Dogs and cats are lactose intolerant and if they are fed milk or dairy products they will often experience flatulence. Dogs that swallow air, especially those that eat rapidly, are more likely to experience flatulence. Overweight, obese and sedentary dogs are at higher risk for developing chronic flatulence, regardless of diet.

The most common clinical signs include: Expulsion of gas from the anus, with or without odour, mild abdominal discomfort, mild stomach distension or bloating, excessive gaseous sounds or rumbling from the abdomen.

If a dog has an underlying mal-assimilation problem, clinical signs may also include loose stools or diarrhoea, vomiting and weight loss. Some of the common causes include: Aerophagia (increased swallowing of air), Nervous eaters, Gluttony or compulsive eating, Respiratory disease, Feeding shortly after exercise, Brachycephalic or flat-faced breeds, Diets high in soybeans, peas or beans, Diets high in fermentable fibres such as lactulose, psyllium or oat bran, Milk and dairy products, Sudden change in diet, Spicy foods and food additives, Spoiled food, Inflammatory bowel disease (IBD), Small intestinal bacterial overgrowth (SIBO), Tumours, Irritable Bowel Syndrome (IBS), Intestinal parasites, Enteritis, Exocrine pancreatic insufficiency (EPI).

Other diagnostic tests that may be required, to determine the cause of excessive flatulence, include faecal examination and evaluation, rectal cytology, faecal cultures, blood and urine tests, trypsin-like immunoreactivity (TLI), serum cobalamin and folate tests, abdominal radiographs, abdominal ultrasound, and treatment is based on diagnosis and commonly involves a change in diet. Diet recommendations include a diet that is highly digestible with a low fibre and fat content.



I bought my daughter a fur lined coat in England. The shop assistant told me it was fake fur otherwise I would not have bought it.

Unfortunately, many shops in England, which do not have a No-Fur policy, have been found selling real fur, cheaply bought from China and France where animals are kept in terrible conditions so the fur costs them virtually nothing. An investigation by the charity Humane Society International (HSI) found that British stores were selling supposedly fake fur but which was real. Fluffy "faux fur" clips sold by Boots were made from mink; a pompom keyring from Tesco and gloves from Fat Face were made from rabbit fur. Unfortunately, as labels can lie and trusted retailers can be found selling real fur as faux fur, consumers have to become their own fur detectives. It is wrong to assume real fur will be expensive — we are not talking full-length mink coats here. Much of the fur on sale in the UK is in the form of pompoms on accessories and trims on coat hoods, all with deceptively low prices. The appallingly poor conditions that animals suffer on fur farms mean real fur can be produced and sold more cheaply than faux fur. Here is how you can make out: The tips of the hairs in real fur taper and have pointed ends, whereas the hairs on faux fur are blunt where they have been cut in manufacture.

Look at the base. Part the hair to see how it is attached. Animal fur has a leathery backing because it's attached to the animal's skin, whereas faux fur will have a material woven backing. Hairs on real fur will also be different lengths, while faux fur tends to be more uniform.

Burn it. Not in the shop, but you could do it on something you already own. Trim a few hairs and set fire to them. Real animal fur singes; faux fur melts in a sticky way, cooling to form hard plastic balls, and will probably smell plasticky. Do not buy online. EU regulations state that "textile products" (that is clothes) containing fur should be labelled as containing "non-textile parts of animal origin". However, this doesn't need to be included in online product descriptions. In any case, both look cheap and ugly. Don't buy real or fake.

When we talk about animal intelligence, are insects intelligent as well?

Far more intelligent. Take one example. No human mother can pass on information to her baby. But an insect mother, like a cricket who knows that she will not be around for her babies and wants to protect them from predators, gives them this information while they are in her womb. Researchers from the University of South Carolina Upstate and Indiana State University placed pregnant crickets in an enclosure where they were stalked, but not eaten, by a wolf spider. The young of the spider-exposed mothers turned out to be more predator-savvy than those with mothers who were not exposed to the wolf spider; they stayed hidden longer, and were more likely to freeze when they encountered spider faeces or spider silk. The research was published in The American Naturalist.

'Tree Lovers Club' continues urban greening initiative

Residents urged not to plant saplings under overhead power lines

Utilise vacant sites as kitchen gardens

Residents of 'Wild Grass Layout' in Vijayanagar 3rd Stage planting saplings at a proposed Park recently.

A rare picture of tastefully pruned Honge trees underneath power lines. Dr. Mahadevaiah of Vijayanagar 3rd Stage gets these three trees pruned every two years at his own cost so that they don't touch the wires.

Mysuru, Aug.29 - The newly-floated Tree Lovers Club, which planted around 700 saplings in Vijayanagar 3rd Stage last month under its urban greening initiative, continued its drive by planting over 200 fruit-bearing saplings this month also.

The residents of 'Wild Grass Layout', Vijayanagar 3rd Stage, planted different types of saplings in the Civic Amenity site earmarked for Park measuring close to half-an-acre.

The greening drive was undertaken by Tree Lovers Club President Mandetira N. Subramani following requests by Wing Commander Chendrimada Madappa (Retd.) and K.J. Halappa, Treasurer of 'Wild Grass Residents Welfare Association' in Vijayanagar 3rd Stage.

Addressing the residents, Subramani said that the urban greening wing of Forest Department in Mysuru would accede to the requests of any NGOs such as VeKare Ex-Servicemen Trust's offshoot 'Tree Lovers Club' to plant the required species of tree saplings in any residential layouts in Mysuru, if found feasible.

He also urged the residents not to insist the Forest Department staff to plant saplings underneath the overhead electrical lines, like in some areas, since it would be hazardous after the trees grow taller. Such planting of saplings would dent the tax-payers' money in getting the trees pruned every year by the CESC.

Reiterating that the trees touching the power lines would also pose threat to human lives, Subramani urged the residents themselves to get such trees in their surrounding areas pruned regularly by professionals without waiting for CESC staff.

Observing that a lot of weeds, parthenium and unwanted wild grass was growing in the vacant sites, Subramani suggested the residents nearby to make use of such sites as a kitchen garden or flower garden with prior permission from site owners. This would not only give a facelift to their layout but also set a precedent for others to emulate the concept of utilising the vacant sites to grow vegetables/ flowers and to cultivate the habit of gardening.

On behalf of the residents and site owners in Wild Grass Layout, Wg. Cdr. Madappa lauded the efforts of Tree Lovers Club and said that the residents would look after the tree saplings.

K.J. Halappa said that he would send an appeal to the residents and the site owners of the Layout to donate in kind or cash towards maintaining the Park as well as to look after the saplings planted in the Park.

Flood victims reluctant to shift to Kushalnagar

Unpreparedness of officials blamed

Kushalnagar, Aug.29 (AG& NNN)- Nearly 220 flood victims taking shelter in the relief centres in Madikeri were reluctant to leave the centres and they took umbrage against the authorities trying to shift them here. Since the authorities insisted, they were moved to Valmiki Bhavan and the Government Hostel yesterday.

As soon as they reached here, they found to their dismay that the authorities were totally unprepared. There were just two toilets in Valmiki Bhavan and six in Government Hostel and the whole place was very dirty. Meanwhile, two Revenue Inspectors, Madhusudhan and Ajay and a Village Accountant Gautam are coordinating the relief efforts.

Even though they were caught unawares, they immediately were able to arrange four to five bio-toilets, which were installed in Valmiki Bhavan. For the victims staying in Government Hostel, apart from the six toilets in the hostel, they were allowed to use the toilets in the neighbouring college.

Out of the 220 victims, 40 victims have left the centre and the remaining are still here, said Gautam.

Difficult to find job

One of the victims, Ganesh from Makkandur speaking to Star of Mysore here this morning said that he had lost everything he possessed including eight acres of land, jeep, car and house that were all washed away. But the authorities forced them to shift from Madikeri to Kushalnagar.

"If I was in Madikeri I could find some job. With my friends' contact, I was already working in a hotel. It is difficult to find job here," said Ganesh.

Another victim Jalaja from Muvathoklu said that she has not been able to go back to her village as there is no road left. "Since I have no options I am living here. My daughter is married and even there was problem in her village. Hence, I did not want to go there," she said.

Relief Centre cleared

A relief centre set up in Government Model School has been cleared as all the inmates have moved back to their own villages or their relatives places.

However, a few of them are still creating a nuisance coming in an inebriated condition to the centre thus causing problems to the teachers and students.

Asked why they were coming back, one of the teachers told Star of Mysore that many of them were not allowed to enter their own homes in their villages as they were going back drunk. Hence, they were coming to the school where the relief centre was set up earlier and creating a nuisance.

Man jumps into River Cauvery; search on for body

Even as operations to retrieve bodies of flood victims is still on in Kodagu, personnel of the Fire Services Department and Dubare Rafting Team were involved in trying to fish out the body of a man who jumped into Cauvery River in Kushalnagar this morning. Lokesh, (28), resident of Koppa and a daily wager, allegedly leapt into the river at 7.30 am following a family dispute. The combined operation was called off this afternoon after the search proved futile. It will continue tomorrow morning to fish out the body, said sources.

Gajapayana venue shifted

Hunsur MLA A.H. Vishwanath was also a part of the visiting team. Till now, the annual Gajapayana was being held at Nagapura Girijana Ashrama School and this time, it will be held at Veeranahosahalli Gate. It was in 1999-2004 when Vishwanath was a Cabinet Minister, the concept of Gajapayana was floated and implemented.

Since then the Veeranahosahalli Gate was the venue of Gajapayana where pujas would be performed while elephants are sent to Mysore Palace. But since the last three to four years, the Gajapayana venue was shifted to Nagapura Tribal School due to some reasons. This year, the event will return to Veeranahosahalli Gate, its original place as Vishwanath is a Hunsur JD(S) MLA and even holds the position of State JD(S) President and has a say in this matter.

The team of officials, who visited Veeranahosahalli this morning, examined the place and directed the ground-level officers to clean the area and get ready for the event. Mysuru Deputy Conservator of Forests (Wildlife) Sidramappa Chalkapure, Hunsur Conservator of Forests Ravishankar, Tahsildar Mohan Kumar and Range Forest Officer Ananya Kumar, who is in-charge of Gajapayana and others were present.

No change in Dasara Logo; website to be redesigned

Speaking to Star of Mysore from Veeranahosahalli Gate where he was inspecting the site of Gajapayana, the DC said that as it was decided at the Dasara High Power Committee meeting in the presence of Chief Minister H.D. Kumaraswamy, this year, the focus will be on attracting more and more tourists.

Four arrested for kidnapping K.R. Pet Tahsildar

By abducting the officer, accused wanted to exert pressure on government to waive off all farm loans

Tahsildar Mahesh

K.R. Pet, Aug. 29 (Srinivas&BCT)- Four persons have been arrested for the kidnap of K.R. Pet Tahsildar Mahesh Chandra. Among the arrested is Railway Department Store-Keeper.

Mahesh Chandra, one of the senior Revenue officials in the State, and who was said to be facing threats from illegal stone quarry operators, was allegedly abducted on Aug. 2. He was released later, unharmed.

Following up the case, the Police have arrested 30-year-old K.N. Yogendra, a Railway Department Store-Keeper and a resident of Sheelanere village near K.R. Pet, 29-year-old S.N. Deepu alias Deepak, a resident of Sheelanere village, 31-year-old M.N. Somashekar alias Somu who is a resident of K.R. Pet Muslim Colony presently settled at Magadi in Bengaluru and 24-year-old S.S. Chandru, a resident of Sheelanere village.

The accused, covering their faces with clothes, abducted Mahesh Chandra at 10.30 pm from Chikkavaddaragudi near Bherya in K.R. Nagar. The gang took him to several abandoned places and released him at a deserted place at Malkonahalli near Tendekere in K.R. Pet. Later, the Officer managed to reach the Police Station.

Mahesh Chandra, who was earlier working as Tahsildar at K.R. Nagar, had been transferred to neighbouring K.R. Pet only a week before his kidnap.

A special team was formed under the leadership of K.R. Nagar Inspector K.K. Raghu and the accused were nabbed using their phone movements that were recorded at different cell phone towers. Interestingly, the accused, knowing well that their cell phones will be tracked, had bundled all their handsets inside a towel and had placed them near a forest area. But their luck ran out as the Police managed to round off all of them.

However, the motive behind the kidnap still remains to be ascertained. But speculations are rife that Mahesh Chandra was kidnapped only to exert pressure on the government to announce total farm loan waiver at the earliest.

The abductors were upset with the fact that the H.D. Kumaraswamy government had waived off just Rs. 2 lakh loan while a promise of waiving off all the loans was made. They hoped that by kidnapping the Tahsildar, they could exert pressure on the State Government to waive off all the loans.

The Police said that they are probing all angles and it was too early to establish the motive of the kidnap. Earlier a woman angle had also surfaced in the kidnap. The accused were arrested on Aug. 25 and were in the Police custody for two days and the Court has now handed over them to judicial custody.

After giving Ravindranath tender coconut and some food, the Forest staff handed him over to Talkad Police. The Talkad Police then informed Ravindranath's family members and handed him over to them on Tuesday night.

'Practice non-violence for a safe society'

Speakers on 'Bhagavad Gita - A Life Message'

FROM LEFT: B.K. Ranganath, B.K. Anand, B.K. Sapna, B.K. Brij Mohanji, Prof. K. Keshavamurthy, B.K. Lakshmiji, B.K. Veenaji, B.K. Ramachandra Rao and B.K. Krishnamurthy at a programme on 'Bhagavad Gita - A Life Message' organised by Brahmakumaris at Kalamandira in city recently.

Mysuru, Aug.29 - "In today's world everybody expects a life with safety and security. Increasing cases of violence, cruelty and misbehaviour have disturbed the mindset of people. There is a dire necessity of eschewing violence in public life as demanded by God in Gita," was the sum and substance of the opinion expressed by speaker after speaker participating in the programme 'Bhagavad Gita - A Life Message' organised by Brahmakumaris, Mysuru at Kalamandira recently.

In this well-attended programme, three main speakers spoke on the message given in the Gita to alleviate the problems affecting the common man today.

Additional Secretary General of Brahmakumaris B.K. Brij Mohanji said that whenever there is devaluing of virtues, God incarnates and such a time seems to be imminent. Everyone wishes to see a land of divine values to replace devilish tendencies which appear to be omnipresent. Evil nature in human being is responsible for his sorrow and disarray. If we can follow Gandhiji in practicing truth and non-violence viciousness can disappear. For that to happen we have to comply with Sat dharma and be soul conscious.

Everyone will have to suffer sorrow or enjoy happiness according to their Karma. For the society to see spiritual health in all strata the quality of Karma has to get enhanced. When a patient follows the suggestion given by his Doctor and follows a restricted diet, in the same way if everyone does his Karma by surrendering it to God then it is possible that the society can be cleansed of its dirt and a healthy society is established, he said.

Prof. Keshavamurthy, a well-known Gita exponent of the city, said that Yoga transforms an ordinary Karma to a dexterous one when we follow Gita. People are experiencing sorrow and suffering when they are slaves to sense organs. When we establish mastery over our five sense organs the Karma we perform would become a skilled Karma. This is the real Yoga. Therefore, to implement the knowledge of Bhagavad Gita we have to perform our Karma by establishing ourselves in Swadharma. When we obtain the knowledge of the soul our mind gets clarity and the thoughts that are created are more astute.

B.K. Veenaji of Sirsi said that Gita enables a dumb person to speak and a lame one to counter a hill. Also it gives the knowledge of leading a life of simplicity and serenity. When we study Gita our self-confidence gets a boost. When we understand that the soul is immortal and the body is a costume of the soul, the panic and apprehensions of the mind disappear. Gita acts like a torch light in our life. But we have to work hard for our own salvation.

B.K. Lakshmiji, who presided, expressed that Gandhiji called Gita as his mother. A child believes in its mother in all respects and in the same way human beings can experience goodness in life when they are earnest in their study of Gita.

Indrani Ananthram rendered songs on Krishna. B.K. Ramachandra Rao welcomed. B.K. Sapna gave an account of the activities of Brahmakumaris. B.K. Krishnamurthy proposed a vote of thanks. B.K. Ranganath compered.

Mysuru Warriors tame Shivamogga Lions

MAN OF THE MATCH: Rajoo Bhatkal of Mysuru Warriors en route to his match-winning knock.

Mysuru, Aug.29 (SV)- Mysuru Warriors put up a clinical show as they defeated Shivamogga Lions by six wickets in the Karnataka Premier League (KPL)-2018 tie played at the SDNR Wadiyar Stadium in city yesterday. Off the three matches that they have played this season, this was their second win.

After winning the toss, Shivamogga Lions elected to bat. Opener B.R. Sharath (46) utilised the field restrictions and set up the platform as they reached 50 for 1 in the 6th over. A few run outs and excellent bowling spells from leg spinners Kushal Wadhwani (2 for 15 in 2 overs) and Amit Verma (1 for 20) ensured that the opposition were all out for 146 in 20 overs. Aditya Somanna's quick cameo of 39 off 20 balls ensured that the Lions reached a competitive total.

In reply, Mysuru Warriors chased the target comfortably. Openers Rajoo Bhatkal (59) and Arjun Hoysala (40) were in a destructive mode as they shared a partnership off 99 runs in 11.3 overs. Right from the word go, Raju Bhatkal 59 (45b,8x4,0x6) and Arjun Hoysala 40 (28b,3x-4,2x6) showed no signs of mercy on the opposition as they smashed the ball all around the park.

It was a complete spectacle of late cuts, sweep shots, cover drives and lofts by the home team. A couple of wickets in the middle put some signs of concern on the Warriors. But a calm and composed Shoaib Manager (25 n.o.) guided the Warriors home.

Warriors scored 147 for 4 in 17.2 overs and are now placed third in the points table with 4 points. Bengaluru Blasters and Hubli Tigers have 7 points each. With no points in their favour, Shivamogga Lions have hit the bottom of the table with zero win.

Navodaya Vidyalaya at Galibeedu gets Seismograph equipment

Seismic Monitoring Centre set up at Navodaya Vidyalaya, Galibeedu.

Madikeri, Aug.29- A team of Geo-technical experts from NGRI (National Geophysical Research Institute) have set up a Seismic Monitoring Centre in Galibeedu's Navodaya Vidyalaya to closely monitor seismic activity in and around Kodagu.

The Hyderabad-based NGRI, headed by senior scientist Dr. Raghavan, has taken the mud from where landslides have occurred to Hyderabad for testing.

The Seismograph is installed by digging a three feet hole in the ground in a room in the Navodaya Vidyalaya. To monitor the seismic activity 24 hours a day, a solar battery and power back-up has also been set up. A special internet connection has also been given to constantly study seismic activity.

Only second in State: The seismograph imported from United States of America is only the second one to be installed in the State and this will detect and record earthquakes. The first one is installed in Dharwad. This will record the seismic activity and report to the receiving centre in Hyderabad.

Seismograph's uniqueness: The Seismograph installed at the Navodaya Vidyalaya costs Rs.6 lakh and it records tremors more than 5 Richter Scale that occurs in any part of the world. It will also record earthquakes from 3 to 5 Richter scale in any part of the country and transmit it to NGRI in Hyderabad.

Hence, the seismograph is installed in a specially guarded room in a thermocol pack inside the earth.

The senior scientists from Hyderabad have monitored the landslides that occurred in Kodagu for three days. After monitoring the activity, they have set up the Seismograph in a special room. This equipment monitors every activity inside the earth, records it and sends it to Hyderabad. Mild tremors were experienced at Galibeedu on Monday and last evening at 5.30 said the scientists.

Admit flood-affected children to residential schools

Lokayukta tells DDPI

Shetty

Madikeri, Aug.29- Lokayukta Justice P. Vishwanath Shetty has suggested to the Deputy Director of Department of Public Instruction (DDPI) to take keen interest to see that the flood-affected children of Kodagu are admitted compulsorily to residential schools.

He was chairing a meeting of officials at the Deputy Commissioner's Office and gathering information about the steps taken with regard to the flood victims.

As a lot of students in the district are affected and many private schools are coming forward to admit them, the Administration should make use of this offer. The children should compulsorily be admitted to residential schools, he said.

Deputy Director of Public Instruction Walter Demello, speaking on the occasion, said that 763 children found it difficult to attend the schools. Out of this, 80 percent had already been admitted to nearby schools. The remaining will also be admitted, he added.

Justice Vishwanth Shetty also got the information from the technical experts regarding the Madikeri-Manguluru National Highway damaged due to floods and directed the Division Engineer to send the report to him through the Deputy Commissioner about the damages.

Hundreds of cattle have died due to natural calamity and instead of giving Rs.30,000 to the cattle owners, they should be given cows and other cattle. This is the only way they can improve economically, he suggested.

Deputy Commissioner (DC) P.I. Sreevidya, who briefed at the beginning of the meeting, said that 186 houses had been completely damaged and 934 partially damaged.

The rescue teams from the Army, Navy, Air Force, State Disaster Response Fund (SDRF), National disaster Response Fund (NDRF), Police Department, KSRP and other teams participated in the rescue operations, she said.

Many have joined hands with the District Administration and in the coming days, a lot of effort is needed to rebuild Kodagu. Even from the Lokayukta, two SPs, two Dy.SPs and seven Inspectors had been deployed, said Lokayukta Shetty.

Lokayukta ADGP Sanjay, Secretary Vijaykumar and Addl. DC M. Satish Kumar were present.

Aadhaar cards re-issued at relief camps

Madikeri, Aug.29- To ensure flood victims are not denied relief for lack of identity papers, the Revenue Department in Kodagu has launched Aadhaar centres in relief camps across the district.

Residents are being issued printouts of Aadhaar cards by verifying their biometric details on the spot. The first such Aadhaar centre was set up in Jodupala, a border village of the district. Officials are using thumb impressions to re-issue Aadhaar cards. No other documents are required for this. Aadhaar centres have been set up in all relief camps.

WORD OF THE DAY

Cafune

Pronunciation: ca-funé

Meaning: Running your fingers through the hair of someone you love.

Origin: Cafuné is a force of affection, of tenderness, but most importantly it's a calming force. It's what mothers do to their child. This Brazilian Portuguese word in English 'cafuné', is a peculiar gem that is part of a group of unique words that are unable to be translated into other languages. The historical origin tells of the past of suffering, a by-product of slavery. It's a word to literally describe a physical expression of human affection and love that is unable to be simply translated with one word. The word cafuné is uniquely Brazilian just like the word saudade that doesn't quite translate into one word in English. Yet the linguistic origin of this Brazilian Portuguese word is a story worth telling, to remind us of how humans endure the most painful and perplexing of times. The linguistic also claim cafuné is actually derived from Yoruba African language. Yoruba was one of the major languages spoken by African slaves who were brought to Brazil to work in plantations.

Example: She sleeps only if someone makes her a cafuné.

THE ODD WORD

Kalon

Beauty that is more than skin-deep.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

Yellow-belly

Meaning: A coward.

Origin: The term 'yellow-belly' is an archetypal American term, but began life in England in the late 18th century as a mildly derogatory nickname. Grose's A provincial glossary; with a collection of local proverbs etc, 1787, lists it: "Yellow bellies. This is an appellation given to persons born in the Fens, who, it is jocularly said, have yellow bellies, like their eels." The usage wasn't limited to the Lincolnshire Fens. In the same year, Knight's Quarterly Magazine (London) published an account of life in the Staffordshire Collieries. There is also a story about the Wexford hurling team that was raised by Sir Caesar Colclough to play a match against a team from Cornwall, in the late 16th century. This has a literal element, in that the Wexford players played with yellow cloth tied around their waist to distinguish them from Cornwall, and this caused them to be nicknamed The Yellowbellies. In fact, none of the early English/Irish uses of the name suggest cowardice. The first use of the term that one can find from the USA, a cowardly meaning, comes from an account of a military skirmish in Texas, reported in The Wisconsin Enquirer, April 1842.
